DESCENDANTS OF JOHN ANDERSON

John Anderson, alias Augustus Walbus, born in Copenhagen, Denmark, left his native home at the age of 21 to escape rigid military training. His departure from Denmark was made in a small sailboat with a few, (exact number unknown) buddies. Later they were picked up by a boat. Upon arrival in America, he made his way to Chicago. During his stay in Chicago he was employed by the B. & O. Railroad under the foremanship of a Swedish gentleman named Anderson. From this man, Augustus Walbus took the name of Anderson, legally changing it to John Anderson.

Helping lay the B. & O. Railroad, he worked his way into Nappanee, Indiana. Upon reaching Nappanee, several of the crew were boarded at the home of David Hochstetler. While staying at this home, he became acquainted with the German people and their language. In the family was a young daughter, Lovina, with whom he fell in love.

Due to difficulties in the church, Bishop Hochstetler and his family left Marshall County and headed for their new home in Newton County. Arriving in their wagons, they settled on a farm northwest of Mount Ayr, Indiana. John followed the family to be near Lovina, the 10th child of David and Susanna (Yoder) Hochstetler. Before permission was granted for the marriage, John Anderson joined with the Amish faith and learned to speak the German language.

John and Lovina then were married on November 18, 1880 with the bride's father officiating. Settling down to married life near North Star, in a log cabin they began the task of raising a family. All their married life was spent near and around Mount Ayr, Indiana. During this time, 10 children, 8 of which survived, were born to them.

John Anderson passed away on January 30, 1921
